

Exhibit A

Ms. Doe said: Ms. Doe repeatedly told the attacker “No” “I said, ‘No, I’m done. I want to go. I don’t want to do this. I’m not comfortable doing this.’” “I said, ‘No, I’m done. I’m leaving. I’m getting out of here.’” “I’m like, ‘No! I want to leave!’ And he doesn’t listen.” “I told him no.” “I’m like, ‘No! I’m leaving! I want to go!’” “I said, ‘No. I want to leave. I want to go.’” “I said, ‘No. I’m leaving.’” Seven times in her interview, Ms. Doe told Det. Rick how she kept saying “No” to the attacker.	Det. Rick wrote: No mention at all of Ms. Doe ever telling him “No”
Each time Ms. Doe begged the attacker to let her leave, he replied “No.” “And he was like, ‘No. Five more minutes.’” “...he said, ‘No. Five more minutes.’ He said, ‘I have a better idea.’” “...but he’s like, ‘No. You’re fine. Nobody will find you in here.’” A total of seven times in the interview, Ms. Doe gave Det. Rick specific instances where the attacker replied “No” in denying her repeated pleas to leave	No mention at all of the attacker saying “No” to her pleas; “No” selectively edited out of her words “(he) replied back 5 more minutes” “he then states he has a better idea” “(he) replied ‘You are fine, no one will find you are in here.’”
Ms. Doe said: Ms. Doe repeatedly tried to physically fight off the attacker: “And I started to push him away.” “...and I pushed him away...” “I pushed him away again” “...and I would push him away multiple times saying, ‘I just want to leave. I want to go.’”	Det. Rick wrote: No mention at all of Ms. Doe pushing away or physically fighting off the attacker
Ms. Doe described her emotional distress: “I started crying and (pauses) I didn’t scream for help, um, because I didn’t want to get caught for doing	No mention at all of Ms. Doe’s crying or emotional distress

something I don't want to do. (voice breaking) But I was crying..."
The attacker brutally forced oral sex: "... he puts his hands, one hand on my head and pushes my mouth on (his penis)" "...it would make me gag" "...I was gagging." Ms. Doe clearly described the brutality of this forced act with many additional details	Ignored nearly all of what Ms. Doe said and rather stated that she was the initiator of a consensual act "she begins to perform orally on (the boy)"
The attacker used aggressive force: "And then he, like, pushes me toward the wall. Um, but if I didn't put my hands out, I probably would have had a bruise on the back of my back of the (pauses) flusher thing..." "I would have completely fallen backwards into the part where you like, flush the toilet." "...he aggressively pushed me to the wall so my hands were holding the wall. "	Re-characterized acts of aggression by deliberately substituting different words "(he) places her on the toilet" "(he) puts her hands on the wall"
